Note:

The milliner Renée Vert was the fiancée of Adolphe Albert, a friend of Lautrec's.

This stone was printed in an edition of 50. Known examples include those at The Art Institute of Chicago; the Institut national de l'histoire d'art, Paris; The San Diego Museum of Art; the Staatliche Graphische Sammlung, Munich; the Staatliche Museen zu Berlin; and the Staatliche Kunstsammlungen Dresden.

The first known owner of this work was Émile Laffon (1868–1931), whose collection was dispersed at two posthumous sales. The first, which was held by Sotheby's London in 1936, comprised watercolours and paintings by Eugène Boudin. The second, in Zurich in 1938, included both Old Master and modernist works on paper.

The French art dealer Paul Prouté of Paris (1887–1981), who served as one of the auction's experts, is acquired this lithograph at that sale. This sheet is also marked with his the price code. It was most likely acquired by Hildebrand Gurlitt in the 1940s, during the Occupation.
